THE RINGDOVES

For Ethel & Paul Heins—with best wishes—

Gloria
GLORIA KAMEN grew up and had her art training in New York City. She has worked as a graphic artist, theater artist for The Washington Post, and as illustrator of numerous books and educational television programs for children. Several of the programs have won national awards.

Ms. Kamen’s interest in Indian folk tales started several years ago while visiting India in preparation for her biography of Rudyard Kipling. She is also the author/illustrator of biographies of Fiorello La Guardia and Charlie Chaplin.

Jacket illustrations copyright © 1988 by Gloria Kamen
Jacket calligraphy by Anita Karl

Atheneum
Macmillan Publishing Company
866 Third Avenue, New York, NY 10022
What reviewers have said about

KIPLING: Storyteller of East and West

"Lively and fluent, Kamen's writing brings the subject to life through vivid details and vignettes, yet avoids the false ring of fictionalization. . . . From the dimensions of the volume to the quality of paper and size of type, the book's design has that pleasing quality of rightness that is never accidental. Handsome full-page sepia drawings with washes provide useful backdrops as the scenes shift between India, England, America, and Africa. . . . Kamen has written an excellent biography for children, not a written-down, scaled-down, or expurgated version of a biography for adults, but one thoughtfully conceived, written, and designed for her intended audience."

—Booklist, starred review

"A well-written and beautifully illustrated biography that is both interesting and informative. . . . Sprinkled throughout the 12 chapters are exquisite full-page watercolors in shades of brown and ecru. They expand on the text with multi-panels tied together with geometric borders."

—School Library Journal